A STRIKE IS FEARED

Business Men of Newport News Are Alarmed.

NO HOPE OF SETTLEMENT

Contractors Are Holding Out Firmly and it is Feared that General Sympathetic Strike Will Be Called. Hampton Primary.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEWPORT NEWS, VA., May 20.—The business men and public generally here are alarmed over the prospect of a general sympathetic strike of all the trades unions of the city on account of the carpenters' strike. If this general strike should be called, the trades union men both in and out of the shipyard would be called out, and the effect of the move upon the business of the city would be felt immediately.

carpenters' and joiners' union ha appointed a committee to look into the advisability of asking for the general strike. This committee will make a report before Friday night, and the matter will then be laid before the Central Later Union.

Union. business men will make every effort The business men will make every effort to prevent the strike from being called, and they hope to be able to have the carpenters atrike settled in time to prevent the possibility of such an event. The strikers and contractors are still holding firmly to their original stands, however, and there seems to be no prospect for an immediate settlement. The carpenters have offered to submit their demands to a board of arbitration, but as yet their offer has not been taken up. Work is being done on some of the build-ners in the city, but notwithstanding the ings in the city, but notwithstanding the threat made by the contractors, compara-tively few non-union carpenters have been tively few non-union carpenters have been put to work so far.

The two hundred striking carpenters hold regular meetings at labor headquarters, and the men receive strike pay every week.

FRANK W. LINDSEY

Death of a Former Member of the Legislature. Legislature.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

STONE MOUNTAIN, VA., May 20.—
Frank W, Lindsey died at his home at Aral, this county, on May the 8th, in the seventy-second year of his age. Mr. Lindsey was elected to the Legislature in 159 over his brother, James N. Lindsey, who ran as the nomince of the Republican party, and served during the long session that followed the adoption of the Underwood Constitution.

He served his people most acceptably, but never sought a re-election: In fact, never sought a re-election: In the outset, but was singled out as the man who could defeat tha Republican party in this county, and nominated without his knowledge.

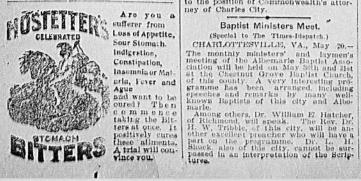

ty, and nominated without his knowledge fr consent.

Although the brothers found themselves pitted against each other in the most ex-cting political contest for legislative hon-ors that ever took place in this county not a rippie ever arose to disturb their productions of the secret dies of broth-ershoad hip or mar the sacred ties of broth-ershoad in the sacred ties of brothcrheed.

The brother who bore the Republican at and and was five years the older, had been a cripple from his youth and had always been in feeble health, yet he lived to weep at the grave of his brother, who up to the last year had enjoyed chart health.

who up to the last year had enjoyed robust health.

The elder brother, by reason of a mis-fortune that made him a cripple for life enjoyed educational advantages that never came to the younger, yet the latter was not inferior in natural powers of mind.

The deceised had opinions and knew how to maintain them. He was a strong debater and a terse writer. He sometimes contributed to the local press, and, although he knew nothing of the theory of grammar, his articles were models of elegance. During the campaign of 1868, while residing in a distant State, the writer received a letter from him which contained the following sentence that just now occurs to his mind:

"F— I have always felt proud that I am a Virginian; but now in her hour of peril, when so many of her children seem to have forsaken the path of virtue and advocate a cause suicidal to her true interest, I am particularly proud that I am a Virginian who feels the emotions of patriotism that characterized her ancient sons, and that I have a heart to sympathize with, and an arm, if need be to defend her."

This poor tribute to the memory of our deceased friend would be incompleted did we fail to state that it was as a Christian that he showed to best advantage.

NOVEL CASE OF FORGERY

Negro in Jail Forges a Paper to Shorten His Term.

(Special to The Times-Impaces.)

BOYDTON, VA. May 20.—The County Court of Mecklenburg was engaged yesterday and the day before in the trial of two negro men, named Wilson Webb and L. S. Williams. Webb was convicted of stealing a cow and sent to the penitentiary for three years. Williams, an ex-convict, from the North Carolina penitentiary, was convicted of forgery and sent to the same place for five years.

The lawyers here say that Williams, case of forgery is a novel one. He was in jail, charged with larceny and while there he told one of the deputy sheriffs that he would give some information in regard to the illicit sale of liquor in town, provided he could get credit for so doing by lessening his punishment.

The deputy told him he had no authority to make any compromise with him. Whereupon Williams pulled a letefrom his pocket, which he handed the deputy, saying it was a letter written by a colored woman, who keeps a restaurant, asking for pay for liquor sold to him. The letter proved to be a forg"Williams was tried and convicted under,"

Williams was tried and convicted under section 3727, Code 1857, which reads: "If any person forge any writing to the projudice of another's rights, or utter or attempt to employ as true such forsed writing, knowing it to be forged, he shall be confined in the ponitentiary not loss than two or more than ten years." The forged paper was virtually a confession on the part of the woman of the illicit sale of liquor and would have exposed her to a fine and imprisonment, the usual object of forgery being to obtain money or other things of value by the forger.

WALTER EVANS WAS DISCHARGED

No Evidence to Show that He Burned West

Point.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WEST POINT, VA., May 20.—Walted II. Evans, the Richmond painter, who was arrested Sunday on the charge of incendiarism in West Point, was called this morning by Justice of the Peace
J. H. Gary, and the examination was J. H. Gary, and the examination was lengthy. All the evidence was brought in, and the matter thoroughly investigated and Evans was honorably acquitted of the charge brought against him. The Comonnwealth's Attorney looked after and Evans was honorably acquitted on the charge brought against him. The Comomnwealth's Attorney looked after the interest of the town, and the town officers as well as a large crowd of citizens were present.

No evidence was discovered against Evans, except at statement made to the Methodist Minister, Rev. J. E. McCariney, Sunday morning on the street, which the minister then and ever since took as the idle talk of a man drinking. Mr. McCartney never made it known to the public, but the people passing on the street who overheard him did so.

The result seems to be satisfactory to all parties. There was not the slightest indication of mob violence to-day of any other kind.

There was an investigation of the statements from several sources that there was danger of violence in the town and at the train Sunday evening, and it was found that nothing of the kind happened. It was thought best to protect the prisoner with every safeguard for fear that some might in the course of the night work up a sentiment against the prisoner.

It is believed that the real fre-bug is still at large, and there hope that he will be speedily brought to justled.

Evans left for Richmond on the 8 o'clock train this afternoon. No conditions were imposed, but he was advised to leave town so that no blame could be attached to him. He left with his daughter and daughter-in-law when he got ready without guard. Everybody here is satisfied as to the trial and his innocence.
